

PERSONAL LOCAL MENTIONINGS

Joe Hopper, of Wilton, is spending the week with home folks here.

Miss Hattie Stansbury is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. M. Robinson.

The State Health Officer gave out a very favorable report after his visit here this week.

Everybody get ready for the reception of the Louisville Commercial Club next Tuesday.

Miss Mand McKeehan, of Corbin, was the guest of Miss Myrtle Cole the first of the week.

Miss Margaret Rowland returned home the first of the week following a visit to friends here.

Dr. and Mrs. James D. Black entertained the Senior Class of Union College Tuesday evening.

John Henson arrived Thursday from St. Petersburg, Fla., and will visit home folks for a few days.

No services at the Christian church next Sunday morning. Evening service will begin promptly at 7:30.

Ed Faulkner, who is attending the Louisville Dental College, is spending a few days with home folks.

Dr. J. S. Lock was in Louisville the latter part of last week attending the Railway Surgeons Convention.

Messrs. R. H. Newitt, Alex and George Finsley and P. D. Black attended Derby Day at Louisville last week.

Frank Stansbury, who has been holding a government position at Washington, D. C., returned home Tuesday.

Rev. A. C. Hutson, of the Baptist church, is attending the Southern Baptist Convention at Jacksonville, Fla., this week.

Prof. and Mrs. J. W. Hughes entertained the Intermediate, Normal and Academic students of the Institute Monday evening.

Judge Cornett, of Harlan Town, is among the out-of-town guests attending the commencement exercises at Union College this week.

A. W. Howard, of Flat Lick, was in town Thursday and paid this office a call, handing us a dollar for the Advocate another year.

Dr. W. C. Black left this morning for Whitesburg and will spend the remainder of the week there in the interest of the Chapter Masons.

Remember the Good Roads Convention at the Court house next Monday, May 22. Several speeches will be made by prominent people.

Charles G. Black, of this city, was chosen Great Guard of the Hay Loft at the Convocation of Haymakers which met at Owensboro last week.

The commencement exercises of the Baptist Institute closed last night with the annual musical. There has been a good attendance at all the exercises this week and some splendid programs have been rendered.

Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Harrop entertained Monday evening in honor of the faculty of Union College.

Rev. Dr. Jameson, of Cincinnati, will preach the Baccalaureate Sermon at Union College Chapel next Sunday morning. Don't fail to hear him.

Let everyone come out and hear Hon. E. T. Franks speak at the Court house Monday afternoon. He is a candidate for Governor and is one of the most fluent speakers in the State. The ladies are especially urged to come out and hear him.

The commencement exercises of Union College will continue until next Tuesday when the diplomas will be presented. The largest crowd perhaps that ever assembled in the chapel was present Wednesday evening to witness the Primary department in their entertainment. A splendid program has been arranged for the entire week and all those interested in the school are earnestly invited to attend all the exercises.

Mrs. J. B. Westerfield and two interesting boys arrived last Friday for an extended visit to home folks here and at Pineville. Dr. Westerfield located in Clovis, New Mexico about 14 months ago, where he is enjoying a good practice and this is the first visit of any of the family back home. Mrs. Westerfield is enthusiastic in her praise of the South west and says she would not want to return here to live. She will remain here perhaps for several weeks before she again returns to her home.

CORRESPONDENCE

RAGAN, NEBRASKA.

Farmers are plowing corn here now.

E. Canon visited his son, Alvin, in Colorado, last week.

County Superintendent Anderson, of Alma, was here on business Monday.

Mesdames' Clara Gray and Nellie Anderson visited Mrs. Stella Cox, Monday.

School closed at this place on April 28th, with a basket dinner and entertainment.

No trace of the bank robbers have yet been heard, but Mr. York has at last found his horse.

It seems that Spring has come at last. Everything looks lovely again. Last week was blustery and on Wednesday, May 3rd, found the ground white with snow.

A surprise party was given Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson, Sunday, May 7th, it being Mr. Anderson's 62nd birthday. It was so much of a surprise to them that they could hardly believe they were at home. Each guest brought something to eat and a Post Card, which made the day one of much pleasure. The crowd arrived at their home about 10:45 a. m. Those present were: G. T. Anderson and wife, Eph. Hendreessen and wife, Bert Woolam and wife, D. D. McNeel and wife, Ora Coy and wife, J. T. Anderson and wife, D. C. Stanberry and wife, Forest Coy and wife, Misses Myrtle Lemore, Ruth Hendreessen, Anna and Itha Anderson, Bonnie and Belva McNeel, Ollie Woolam and Lena Stanberry; Messrs. Merriam Coy, Lester and Will Hendreessen, Gilbert and Keith Woolam and Thomas McNeel. All seemed to enjoy the day hugely. —[KIM]

HEADS OF HOUSES

Excursion from Louisville to Visit Our City Next Tuesday.

Next Tuesday at 11:30 o'clock the excursion train bearing 100 heads of houses from Louisville will arrive here and pay our city a call.

The party will proceed at once to Union College campus, where they will be welcomed in an address by Col. John G. Matthews and responded to by some member of their party.

After the address and hand-shakes the houses will proceed to visit and inspect every part of town. Let us give them a Louisville business card and the campus of Union College to give them a hearty and cordial welcome.

County Organizer and Manager Wanted.

A housewife, formerly a Union College student, desires a capable white man to take charge of its work in the county—to introduce the Order—to recruit members—collect monthly dues—organize lodges—appoint and manage sub-agents and so on.

No previous experience is needed, as we will teach you how to operate. This is a splendid opportunity for a good man, with liberal pay and chance of promotion.

Devote spare time at start, whole time later on.

Well known man wanted, strictly honest, good ability, one who is a hustler and will get out and push the work forward.

This is a great chance to become an influential leader, to help your fellow man and make a good income for yourself at the same time.

This Society pays benefits for sickness, accident and death. The lodges have grand ritualistic work, strictly new and up-to-date in every particular.

No other Order like it was ever started. Over 65,000 memberships already issued and growing very fast.

Write immediately for further particulars, giving full information of yourself in letter. Address in confidence, SUPREME COMMANDER GENERAL, Box A6-293, Covington, Ky.

LICKING THE EDITOR.

The Way the Job Started and Style in Which It Ended.

On the second day of my stay in the town I hunted up the printing office to pay my respects to the editor of the only weekly in the village. I found him to be a small, stoop shouldered man, whose face hadn't a grain of "sand" in it. As I knew the situation to be rather rough, I wondered to myself how he managed when he had a caller who demanded satisfaction. He hadn't a weapon of any sort lying around, nor had he provided a back door through which he might fly if there was any prospect of a fuss. We were talking in a general way when I heard a yell at the foot of the stairs and the noise of heavy feet ascending. The editor heard it, too, and he knocked on a door dividing his sanctum into two rooms and said:

"Hannah, get ready for business!"

Next moment a man entered with a copy of the paper in his hand and yelled out:

"Where in Texas is the bloody hyena who runs this infernal dish rag?"

"My friend, did you come to subscribe for the Banner?" softly inquired the editor.

"Subscribe nothing! I came here to give somebody an all fired licking for lying about me."

"Yes, I see. Don't want any job-work?"

"Job-blazes! I tell you I'm going to pulverize the editor of this paper for lying about me! What is he?"

"Won't an apology in the next issue do?"

"Not much! No man can insult me and then crawl out of it! Trot out the editor and let me lay him!"

"Hannah!" called the editor. "Hannah, you'll have to stop out! Sorry to interrupt you, but this gentleman is very aggressive."

The door of the next room opened and a woman six feet high and as broad shouldered as a man came out. She had on eyeglasses, but she removed them, spat on her hands and called for the caller with out a word. She banged him against the wall, banged him against the stove, scolded and whirled him about, and as he faced the stairs she gave him a kick which lifted his heels off the floor and jumped him down three steps. He went clattering down without a word, and when he had disappeared she nodded to me and re-entered her room.

"My sister and also the editor of the religious department!" explained the editor in his soft and gentle way, and the incident was not again referred to during my call. —Baltimore American.

Manx Laws.

Every woman, widow or spinster in the Isle of Man, whether she be owner, occupier or lodger, enjoys the parliamentary franchise. Every widow enjoys half of her husband's personal estate and has a life interest in his real estate, and she cannot be deprived of this by will. The sale of cigarettes and intoxicants to children was forbidden in the Isle of Man for years before such a prohibition was enforced in England. We have legislated mildly against money lenders. The highest interest that can be charged for a loan in the island is 6 per cent, and that has been the law for over 200 years. —London Chronicle.

He Told Him.

A browbeating professor had exasperated his class. He was catechizing the students, and one of them decided to be revenged. The question put to him was:

"Can you tell me anything at all about prussic acid?"

"The 'at all' was nasty and added to the student's ire, who replied shortly:

"A deadly poison. One drop on the end of your tongue would kill a dog." —London Tit-Bits.

Spoke Too Soon.

"You see," said the little man with the dyed beard as he munched an apple purchased from the train boy, "I am a vegetarian."

"You mean you try to be one," answered the stranger on the seat beside him pleasantly.

"Sir, what do you mean by that?"

"Simply that there was a worm in that apple, and you got it." —Metropolitan Magazine.

All Writers.

Hicks—Literary family the Green-smiths. The daughter writes poems that nobody will print, the son plays that nobody will act, and the mother novels that nobody will read.
